

Is It Real?

You have been in business for a few months and your strategy has probably changed a few times already as some of your initial plans and assumptions have been proven or disproven.

Probably starting your own business is feeling like more of a reality and the initial 'high' of starting your own business is wearing off into a routine thing that you have to think about.

TIP:
You are doing it...just keep going!

The reality of the situation hits home as other realities have to be addressed including:

- First sales and working with customers
- Keeping track of administration
- Working out accounting and bookkeeping
- Balancing new customers with existing customer demands
- Paying off bills
- Continuing to move forward with new developments

You are doing it.... just keep going!
